The Band Concert last Wednesday night at the Opera House, was a delightful musical entertainment. The Male quartette rested the band, in giving some remarkable imitations. The "Deil" were fairly noisy, but the young man who imitated the chuckle of an old hen with a bone in its throat was the star of the evening. It is thought to give the quartette, a night's benefit and then rest them.

Thanksgiving

Religious services will be held in the churches in Logan today, and good cheer we hope will be in every home.

There are occasions when the children of earth do come together. It is when we feel that thanks are due to a Providence which rules us, and which takes care of us. There are times when the vexations of politics cease to distress. There are church going times when the sectarian can not dare to send the dissenting brother to hell, not in this country. Thanksgiving Day is an American Day. No party has a claim upon it no more than upon the Fourth of July. No church has preference, on sectarian lines, in this country, when President and Governor call the people together.

It used to be a cant word, "No Pope no Potentate." It was the trick game of the Political Gambler to play against the Pope of Rome and the English language. The Pope of Rome is no ghost except among people who deal with ghosts, and the English language is the tongue, where spoken, is not by that Potentate, the English King, but by the people who are possessing and christianizing this earth.

It is glad to the millions to know and to feel on today, that Thomas Jefferson owing membership to no sectarian denomination wrote the Declaration of Independence.

The SENTINEL has reasons for thanking today. Its patronage from the good people of the county is more liberal than ever before in its more than fifty years of a work time for its town its county and its party.

The SENTINEL has been able to pay its debts. It has not been a tramp, begging from door to door. It has not been blackmailed. It has not persecuted nor prosecuted its liques. We occasionally ask for money. This is because somebody don't sue, don't whipper don't insult those who happen in arrears and because good friends come of their own accord and pay the little "drib" they owe, and we can pay our rent, our paper bill and our employed hands, from this generous people, we with our readers are thankful.

In many ways Providence, it may seem, has been especially indulgent to us. No disaster of fire nor flood has destroyed our worldly possession. No pestilence, nor epidemic has peopled our graveyards. Plenty has smiled on the fields and comfort has had an abiding place in our homes. We are at peace with all the world outside, with all our neighbors at home, and for all of these blessings today, we are thankful.

The incidental newspapers of our City pretending an opposition, is only a joke on the confiding public. They are all our staff on Thanksgiving Day. The committees and conventions and courts and gossips all have their narrow circle, and like the flies have, a season.

Each, in its time has a finish. The honest going people of this country, and town who don't play for office, the Preacher who is not animated by a salary, the Editor not after a loan, the Councilman who is not running a family for position, and the King who does not rule for favorites are all with us today in thanking the Lord, and thanking one another that we live and are happy once for a day.

This is a warlike world we live in. He is a sensible man who don't go out hunting fights unless indeed he wants a fight.

Most of men, running churches or public offices can quick get a fight when they want it, in this country. Good sense ought to govern the minister as well as the magistrate that it is dangerous to go out of the path unless he wants a war. In this country from the president down to even the Editor, a fight can be had when invited or provoked.

On this Thanksgiving Day, we have no fight.

There should be no dissension among any of us. But let the intelligence, let the good people, let the impulsive think for a moment, that while war, while fight, while contention is the spirit of the race, today, on Thanksgiving Day, we are at peace, and are thankful, that we have peace on earth and good will, if for only day.

Let us give thanks today and let us make all the days thanksgiving because of the measure of goodness we may have passed to our credit.

Death of Daniel Dressback.

Friday morning, Nov. 19, 1897, death came to relieve Daniel Dressback of the responsibilities of this life. The deceased was born near Tarleton, Pickaway county, Ohio, April 5, 1814; was married to Julia Ann Gisel, March 21, 1839. To this union was born five children, two sons, Reuben H. and John, and three daughters, two of whom departed this life several years ago.

Daniel Dressback was a man of sterling worth, unquestioned integrity, and noble aspirations. For sixty years he has been an honored citizen of Hocking county.

He united with the Cumberland Presbyterian Church forty-five years ago and continued his relations with that organization until services were discontinued in his neighborhood. Thirty years ago the Methodist Protestant Church was organized in the Pine Creek Valley and Mr. and Mrs.

Dressback became charter members. He was faithful to his christian convictions to the last and died trusting in the Christ with whom he had walked so devotedly during his long and useful life.

He leaves a widow and three children to do honor to his memory.

Funeral services were conducted in the Pine Grove Church, Sabbath morning, Nov. 21, by C. W. Jones, V. D. M. of Coshocton, Ohio, and Rev. M. Lee, pastor of Logan circuit.

A Library in Itself.

Few people are able to buy as many books as they would like, yet it is possible without them to keep in touch with all the leaders of literature as well as to follow the world's progress in every department of science and industry. The Youth's Companion already provides the means for more than half a million households at an expense of $1.75 a year. Every issue of the Companion gives as much reading matter as a 12mo book of 175 pages and the Companion comes every week. The quality of its contents is shown by the announcement for 1898, which promises contribution next year from Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Rudyard Kipling, Speaker Reed, Capt. A. T. Mahan, Mary E. Wilkins, W. D. Howells, Lieutenant Peary, the Marquis of Dufferin, Senator Hoar, Justice McCarthy and more than two hundred other eminent men and women.

All new subscribers for 1898 will receive The Companion's embossed calendar, beautifully printed in 12 colors, and the paper will also be sent free from the time the subscription is received until January 1898, and then a full year to January 1899. A handsome illustrated prospectus of the volume for 1898 will be sent to any one addressing

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

It is impossible to promise particular features that will appear in the "AMERICAN MONTHLY" during the coming year, for it is, as the Bookman says, "a great monthly newspaper." As such, it points for its readers an illustrated account of the notable things which make the history of the month, of the political, economic, and literary happenings which are of value to intelligent men and women. The Editor's "Progress of the World" tells succinctly an illustrated story of the month. The "Leading Articles" give the best thought and information of the current magazines in five continents; the contributed articles furnish the character sketches of the men of the month, and give timely discussions by authorities on any question of immediate serious import.

The result of this comprehensive effort to edit in one monthly volume the information needed by intelligent people of "live" instincts is best gauged in the opinions which the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY have seen fit to express. These are thinking business men, clergymen, editors, lawyers, professors, engineers, the wide-awake women of America. They write that the AMERICAN MONTHLY "is indispensable," "is simply invaluable," "is a generous library in itself"; "is a historical encyclopedia of the world"; "the best means of aid for a busy man"; "the best periodical of the kind we have ever had"; "a triumph of editorial genius"; "the world under a field-glass," etc., etc.
